

Love, Live, Light

Regine Milena Gracy

Love, Live, Light is a poetry book that enlightens you in all aspects of live, especially aspects which outweigh our century... Love as sweet & bitter as it can be... but Live to hold on unto, no matter how deep the creek you fell in... and Light your source of stimulation, the one of endurance (hope) and benefits in your new stand point...

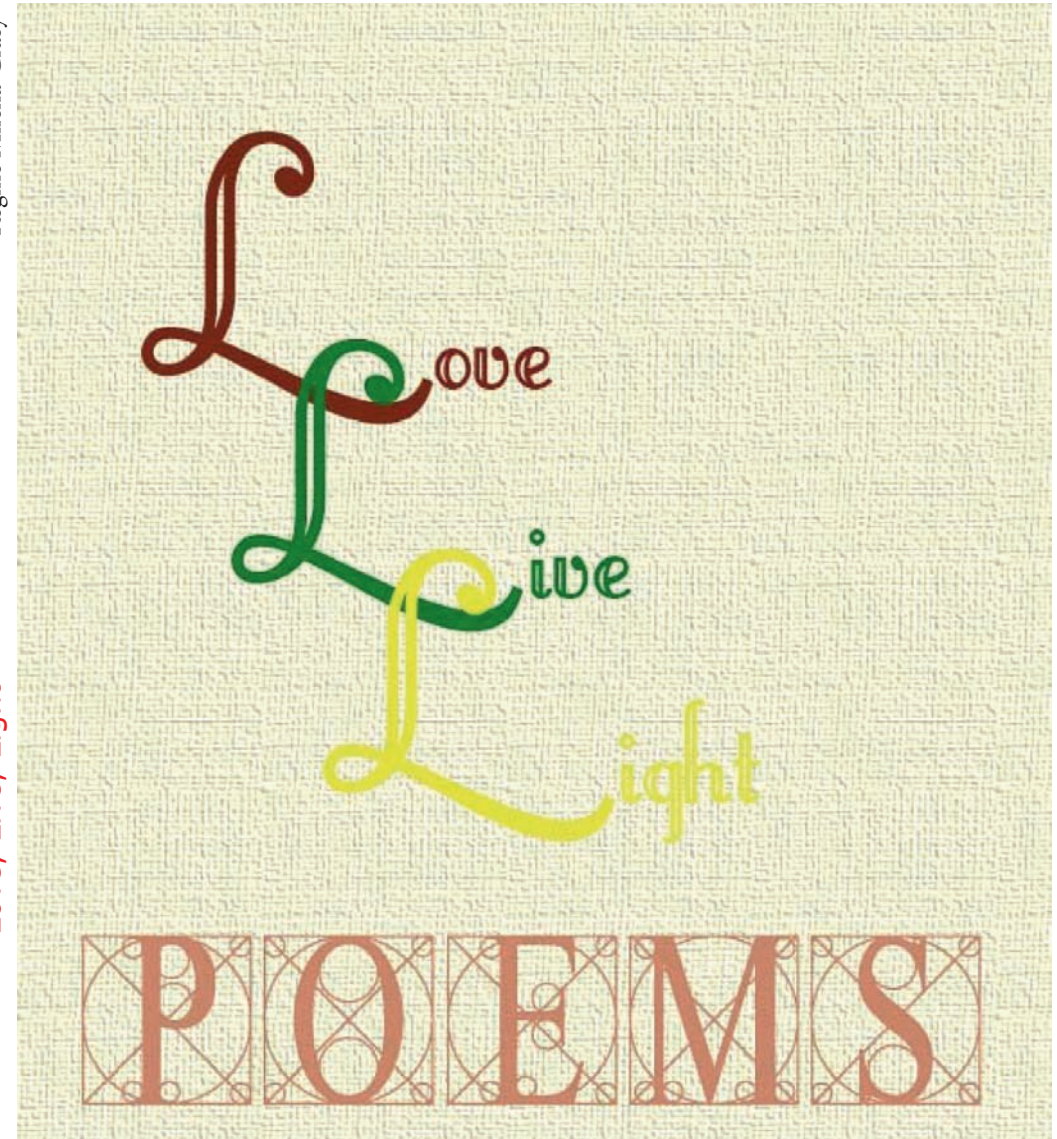

A lot more are selfish, many others egoistic, what about the rest? Life treats many people fairly with much love, luck and label. But what do they do with it? Some waste it all while others struggle to preserve it. So many more, perish in natural disasters, but yet kneel down before their God to call upon help which they receive? Within this book, you'll come across all social status, the sweet parts of it, as well as the bitter parts... what we expect best, is what cracks up from our life cycle—a direct result of our lives...

Regine Milena Gracy is a classical lover of poetry & short stories. "I've always had a dream, that of a heart-winning writer, through my poetic expression... Forces that I tap from the Almighty One and Strength which derives from my daily readers encouragements. I remain unyielding while perceiving a luminous future, with you all by my side."
